Vision

To present some dark fact about a city you may want to visit

Motivation

Finding credible sources about the fact we are trying to present

Goals

Increase in traffic and posts about their experience in the city or their own anecdotes of other cities.
Discussion board styled feedback

Non-goals

Slander and posting anything other than anecdotes about the city they are visiting such as sales, and bullying.

Functional Requirements

1) View pages - Once a page has been created, a user can only post a thread onto the page but not alter the contents made by the creator. The page format will be easy to use and read.
    a) State Search - pick a state to list cities for which dark facts have been posted
2) Thread posting - users can make new threads under a page to tell about their experience
    a) Thread creation - name and time stamp of thread creation
3) Page History - Possible to view a summary of all threads added to a page
    a) Thread deletions - show a log of deleted threads and by whom they were deleted

Non-functional Requirements

1. Accessibility - simple GUI with no excessive colors
2. Portability - Due to the simple GUI portability across devices is possible
3. Modifiability - Simplicity will allow for different themes to be implemented easily
4. Memory optimization - The use of HashMaps allows for easy traversal between threads for different users

Use Cases

A target user is someone who is interested in morbid history about cities. Users will potentially travel to these cities to confirm the evidence presented to them or launch their own pseudo-investigation to find out if the allegations on our wiki are true or not.

A user will find a state that interests them, find a city within said state and read the posted factual documentation. From there the user will either believe the information at face value or try to disprove it by embarking on their own little adventure into the city's history.
